

JGB Insight

BOJ aggressively reducing outright purchases of JGBs in April

- ✓ Purchase amounts for April relative to March were reduced across the curve, particularly in the over-5-year to 10-year zone.
- ✓ Reflecting the results of the latest policy assessment, this significant move is assumed to aim at restoring market functionality and improving liquidity.
- ✓ Even under the pandemic, the Bank appears to allow for 10-year JGB yields to rise somewhat.
- ✓ The 10-year JGB auction went smoothly. We expect the 10Y JGB yield to move in a range of 0.100-0.150% over the next month.

Number of offers during the month was reduced in all targeted zones

The BOJ announced Monthly Schedule of Outright Purchases of Japanese Government Bonds (Competitive Auction Method) for April 2021 at 17:00 on March 31. Key changes from the March schedule are as follows.

- ✓ The number of purchase operations in each zone was reduced by one for all targeted zones except floating-rate JGBs
  - There will be one operation in the up-to-1-year zone, four each in the over-1-year to 3-year, over-3-year to 5-year and over-5-year to 10-year zones, one each in the over-10-year to 25-year and in the over-25-year zone, and one for JGB linkers. Purchase operations for floating-rate notes, previously held every other month, will be once per quarter.
  - This may be taking into account there will be fewer potential days for conducting purchasing operations in May
- ✓ The amount offered per auction has increased in all zones
  - After giving a range of offer amounts previously, the BOJ is announcing specific amounts from April. The BOJ will in principle purchase the specified amount unless a substantial change in the yield curve during the month poses the risk of the 10-year JGB yield surpassing either the upper or lower limit of the range (about  $\pm 0.25\%$ ).
- ✓ The amount of monthly purchases in each zone for every zone except JGB linkers and floating-rate JGBs will be reduced.
  - The largest reduction was in the over-5-year to 10-year zone and the next largest was in the over-1-year to 3-year zone.
  - Its reduction in the superlong zone was roughly as the market expected.
- ✓ Its number of purchase operations during the month, which was seven in March, was reduced to six in April

Planned purchases for the month of April (excluding JGB linkers and floating-rate JGBs) total Y5.9 trillion, an Y550 billion reduction from its March purchase total of Y6.45 trillion.

The BOJ surprised the market with a more aggressive reduction than the consensus expected, and following its announcement JGB futures prices declined about Y0.20 and the yield on the 10-year JGB (JB361), with an auction scheduled the following day, was trading in the range of 0.100-0.120% (+1.0-+3.5bp relative to the March 31 close) (as of 18:00 on March 31).

The BOJ appears willing to allow for some increase in the 10-year JGB yield.

This reduction in purchase amounts is a significant move aimed at restoring market functionality and improving liquidity, reflecting the results of its policy assessment. It made a particularly large reduction in the over-5-year to 10-year zone. This is also a large decline when stated as a fraction of the issuance amount (on a flow basis), from 80.8% in March to 69.2%. The results of the BOJ's policy assessment were that "while impacts from the pandemic are still reverberating, the priority will be on keeping the overall yield curve low and stable," but based on its allowable trading range of about plus/minus 0.25%, it does appear willing to allow for some increase in the 10-year JGB yield.

Expecting the 10Y JGB yield to move in a range of 0.100-0.150% over the next one month

The 10Y JGB auction the Ministry of Finance conducted on April 1 went smoothly, implying that market participants are better buyers for 10Y JGBs at the level above 0.1% despite the big reduction in BOJ's outright purchases. We expect the 10Y JGB yield to move in a range of 0.10-0.15% over the next one month.

BOJ to continue aiming for T-bill purchases within a range of Y500 billion to Y3 trillion

The BOJ again released its Outline of Outright Purchases of Japanese Government Securities, after just having done so on March 19. The BOJ did not change the wording on its T-bill purchases, "the Bank will decide the purchase size per auction considering the effects on financial markets. The Bank will purchase about 500 billion to 3.0 trillion yen of T-Bills per auction for the time being," and it should thus continue making purchases in line with that.

Explanatory Document of Unregistered Credit Ratings

In order to ensure the fairness and transparency in the markets, Credit Rating Agencies became subject to the Credit Rating Agencies' registration system based on the Financial Instruments and Exchange Act. In accordance with this Act, in soliciting customers, Financial Instruments Business Operators, etc. shall not use the credit ratings provided by unregistered Credit Rating Agencies without informing customers of the fact that those Credit Rating Agencies are not registered, and shall also inform customers of the significance and limitations of credit ratings, etc.

■ The Significance of Registration

Registered Credit Rating Agencies are subject to the following regulations:

- 1) Duty of good faith.
- 2) Establishment of control systems (fairness of the rating process, and prevention of conflicts of interest, etc.).
- 3) Prohibition of the ratings in cases where Credit Rating Agencies have a close relationship with the issuers of the financial instruments to be rated, etc.
- 4) Duty to disclose information (preparation and publication of rating policies, etc. and public disclosure of explanatory documents).

In addition to the above, Registered Credit Rating Agencies are subject to the supervision of the Financial Services Agency ("FSA"), and as such may be ordered to produce reports, be subject to on-site inspection, and be ordered to improve business operations, whereas unregistered Credit Rating Agencies are free from such regulations and supervision.

Assumptions, Significance and Limitations of Credit Ratings

Credit ratings assigned by Standard & Poor's are statements of opinion on the future credit quality of specific issuers or issues as of the date they are expressed and they are not indexes which show the probability of the occurrence of the failure to pay by the issuer or a specific debt and do not guarantee creditworthiness. Credit ratings are not a recommendation to purchase, sell or hold any securities, or a statement of market liquidity or prices in the secondary market of any issues.

Credit ratings may change depending on various factors, including issuers' performance, changes in external environment, performance of underlying assets, creditworthiness of counterparties and others. Standard & Poor's conducts rating analysis based on information it believes to be provided by the reliable source and assigns credit ratings only when it believes there is enough information in terms of quality and quantity to make a conclusion. However, Standard & Poor's does not perform an audit, due diligence or independent verification of any information it receives from the issuer or a third party, or guarantee its accuracy, completeness or timeliness of the results by using the information. Moreover, it needs to be noted that it may incur a potential risk due to the limitation of the historical data that are available for use depending on the rating.

Assumptions, Significance and Limitations of Credit Ratings

Credit ratings are Moody's Investors Service's ("MIS") current opinions of the relative future credit risk of entities, credit commitments, or debt or debt-like securities. MIS defines credit risk as the risk that an entity may not meet its contractual, financial obligations as they come due and any estimated financial loss in the event of default. Credit ratings do not address any other risk, including but not limited to: liquidity risk, market value risk, or price volatility. Credit ratings do not constitute investment or financial advice, and credit ratings are not recommendations to purchase, sell, or hold particular securities. No warranty, express or implied, as to the accuracy, timeliness, completeness, merchantability or fitness for any particular purpose of any such rating or other opinion or information, is given or made by MIS in any form or manner whatsoever.

Based on the information received from issuers or from public sources, the credit risks of the issuers or obligations are assessed. MIS adopts all necessary measures so that the information it uses in assigning a credit rating is of sufficient quality and from sources MIS considers to be reliable. However, MIS is not an auditor and cannot in every instance independently verify or validate information received in the rating process.

The information is posted under "Outline of Rating Policies" in the section of "Regulatory Affairs" on the website of Fitch Ratings Japan Limited (<https://www.fitchratings.com/site/japan>)

Assumptions, Significance and Limitations of Credit Ratings

Ratings assigned by Fitch are opinions based on established criteria and methodologies. Ratings are not facts, and therefore cannot be described as being "accurate" or "inaccurate". Credit ratings do not directly address any risk other than credit risk. Credit ratings do not comment on the adequacy of market price or market liquidity for rated instruments. Ratings are relative measures of risk; as a result, the assignment of ratings in the same category to entities and obligations may not fully reflect small differences in the degrees of risk. Credit ratings, as opinions on relative ranking of vulnerability to default, do not imply or convey a specific statistical probability of default.

In issuing and maintaining its ratings, Fitch relies on factual information it receives from issuers and underwriters and from other sources Fitch believes to be credible. Fitch conducts a reasonable investigation of the factual information relied upon by it in accordance with its ratings methodology, and obtains reasonable verification of that information from independent sources, to the extent such sources are available for a given security or in a given jurisdiction. The assignment of a rating to any issuer or any security should not be viewed as a guarantee of the accuracy, completeness, or timeliness of the information relied on in connection with the rating or the results obtained from the use of such information. If any such information should turn out to contain misrepresentations or to be otherwise misleading, the rating associated with that information may not be appropriate. Despite any verification of current facts, ratings can be affected by future events or conditions that were not anticipated at the time a rating was issued or affirmed.

For the details of assumption, purpose and restriction of credit ratings, please refer to "Definitions of ratings and other forms of opinion" on the website of Fitch Rating Japan Limited.
